IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!
THE following advertisement was published in May, 1849, in the Albany Daily Times, and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "PATENT STATIONARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUEING, AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:

"PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the Stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off upon several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now offered by several pretending inventors, described in the 16th volume of the Repository of Arts, invented by Samuel Bentham, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Kugler, some sixteen years since, and another one put up by Albert Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned for the same cause.

"It ought to gratify the public to know that after fifty eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.

"I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.
JAMES G. WILSON,
Philadelphia."

May 19, 1849.

I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine as mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the month of August, 1848, and the machine before this could do so much work, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that mine was not a fraud, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth Machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border St., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.

JOHN DWIGHT & CO'S
SODA SALÆRATUS

The attention of the public is called to this article as being superior to Pearlash Saleratus in its effect—giving cookery a more delicate appearance and flavor; and also as more wholesome—Soda being more congenial to the human system than Potash. It is more economical than Pearlash Saleratus—a less quantity being required to produce the same effect. The article is put up in pound papers with full directions for use.

Also may be found, John Dwight & Co's

Washing & Cleansing Powders,
which will be found, on trial, a very superior article, saving much labor of washing Clothes, &c. It will soften hard water. To Engineers and Machinists it is invaluable for removing grease from the Machinery and other iron works leaving the iron perfectly dry, and not liable to rust.

Directions for use are printed on each package.

The American Cough Candy.
WE know of nothing in the annals of medicine which has achieved, within the same space of time, so just and general a reputation, as the above invaluable Cough Remedy. Testimonials of its wonderful efficacy in curing the most intractable cold continue to flow in upon us. We are assured that where ever used it is superseding all other remedies of the kind. Gresham to re'ire, the Nightengale had she tested its virtue, probably never would have taken to herself a Goldschmidt. She having taken that melancholy step, from the fear the latter voice was gone forever; having experienced only temporary relief from the Remedy last taken.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SENTINEL.

MADISON, April 10.

The easterly wind which has prevailed for some days, resulted this morning in bringing us the threatened storm. A few flakes of snow fell at first, but this did not last long, and the rain followed, very soon putting the streets in a pretty condition.

News has reached us of the result of the Washington County seat election, and that Grafton has it by 1000 majority or thereabouts. It is feared that our friend Wiel will lose a portion of his good humored looks, by the time that he gets back from the field of battle. Judging from the reported majority for Grafton in Belgium—over 700—there must have been some tall voting done on the day of election.

A long memorial as to the price to be paid for newspapers, drawn up by the proprietors of the Argus, and concurred in by several others, was read in hearing of the House this morning, and referred to Messrs. Sholes and McKee, the only printers in the body.

The motion to reconsider the vote which killed the Westfield Bridge bill, was made by Mr. Cate, as he stated, out of courtesy to the friends of the bill, although he opposed the measure. But a few words passed, when the vote was taken to reconsider, and very summarily disposed of in the negative.

The bill limiting the right to vote at school district meetings to persons over 21 years old, residents, and either householders, or such as have paid a poll or property tax within the year preceding, and limiting the tax which they may vote for school teachers' wages to 15 mills per dollar—was passed by the Assembly.

A bill introduced some time since to enable the School Commissioners of Milwaukee to settle with a certain school district, was amended by inserting a section allowing the Commissioners to appoint a Superintendent of the city Schools.—After some remarks from Mr. Phelps and Mr. Root in favor of the section, and from Mr. Cain against, it was adopted, and the bill passed. I do not know how the measure will suit the people of the city, or whether it will pass the Senate; but I verily believe that it ought to please the one, and receive the hearty concurrence of the other. Nay, more; I believe that if our Commissioners take time and trouble to seek out a competent and faithful Superintendent of the Schools, it would be the very best thing possible for the interests of parents, pupils, and teachers, and would result in giving the schools a value and efficiency which they can never attain in any other manner. Those schools are not altogether what they ought to be, as is doubtless generally conceded, considering the expense to which the city has been put in erecting buildings, and maintaining them in use.

The Senate bill providing for the establishment of the Normal School Department in the University came up and was discussed at length in the House, and, like all the other measures for the benefit of the educational interests of the State, was killed, by a vote of 21 to 37—19 of the suicidal majority being whigs. The responsibility is about evenly divided; but, really, it does seem that our Legislative Solons are strangely forgetful, or inconsiderate, as to the true interests of the State in these matters. The moment any measure of progress in our schools comes up, which happens to involve any atom of expense, each particular hair of sundry members stands erect, and they fight it to the death. According to their doctrine, we must stand still, and make no effort at improvement. One strange argument urged against the Normal Schools, was the alleged fact, that the Teachers there educated, would ask too high wages, and that we must have cheap Teachers for some time to come yet, and all that sort of thing. "Cheap Teachers"—forsooth! As if the cheapest Teachers were not, almost invariably, the poorest Teachers of all. You recollect, doubtless, the mysterious exclamation of queer, kind old Aunt Betsy to her Nephew, David Copperfield, when the silly fellow would not see his true interest and real blessing—"Oh Davy! Blind! Blind!" There are many, many blind Davids in the Legislature—so thinks, at least, one individual.

The veto message on the Improvement bill, was made the special order for Wednesday next.

A motion was made to reconsider the vote passing the bill placing murders in the 1st and 2nd degree in the same category as to penalty, except that if the jury are sufficiently excited, or wrought upon by counsel, they may hang a man who commits the first. The motion failed, 27 to 33—about the same vote as yesterday.

The Emigrant Agency, being the special order, was taken up. A motion by Mr. McKee to strike out the enacting clause failed 20 to 36. Mr. Ricker then offered a substitute providing for the appointment, by the Governor, with the advice of the Senate, of an agent to reside in New York; the amount appropriated for salary of Agent and Assistants, rent, printing, &c., being $3,800 00. He stated the object of the clause in italics to be to prevent a political question being made of the Agency—to prevent corruption &c., &c. Mr. Van Nostrand moved to strike out the clause, stating that he believed its existence in the bill would have precisely the effect deprecated by Mr. Ricker. The motion prevailed, and the bill substituted was read a third time and passed. The ayes and noes were called, and resulted on each vote as follows:—

Noes.—Bancroft, Barber, Barlow, Beck, Briggs, Burgess, Cate, Catton, Clemens, Donaldson, Earnest, Fellows, Fyfe, Green, Hammett, Hasse, Kinney, Lawrence, McKee, Monroe, Patch, Pierce, Powers, Ricker, Sholes, Staats, Strong, Sugden, Tracy.—29.

It will be noticed that Mr. Ricker voted against his own bill. This was because of the striking out of the clause making it necessary for the Senate to concur in the appointment. I think the bill will pass the Senate; certainly every well-wisher of the State has reason to hope so.

The Senate sent in a substitute for the Loan Bill passed by the House, proposing to accept the proposition of Mr. Mitchell to loan the State $50,000 on 5 year bonds at 3 per cent, with a commission of 2½ per cent to be first deducted. The bill is a better one than the one proposed by the House, in some respects, and will pass, if we may judge from present appearances. It will be taken up on Monday morning.

The General Banking Law has been reported back to the Senate, after the two weeks' labor of the committee, with a host of amendments. The material ones, I believe, are the increase of Railroad bonds receivable to $8000 per mile—the limitation of the capital of associations to not less than $50,000—and an enumeration of the States whose stocks may be taken as securities.

A thrashing April shower is pouring down to-night.

NAVIGATION ON LAKE WINNEBAGO.—A correspondent at Oshkosh, writing under date of April 10th, says:—

Navigation is still closed on Lake Winnebago. The steamer Badger State attempted a passage to Fond du Lac, on the 9th of April, but could get no more than three or four miles from the mouth of the river, on account of the ice. She has made two trips from here to Berlin. We are having some beautiful sunny days now which melts the ice very fast.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAIL ROAD.—We learn from the Detroit Free Press that Mr. CHARLES G. HAMMOND, formerly Auditor of the State and Collector of the Port of Detroit, has been appointed General Agent for the Michigan Central R. R. Line, and has taken up his residence in Chicago. The appointment is an excellent one.

ICE ON LAKE ERIE.

We learn from a friend who returned from the East last evening, that the lower part of Lake Erie is covered with an almost unbroken field of solid ice To use his own expression, "you can drive on the ice from Erie to Buffalo." At Buffalo, which he left on Friday morning last, the impression prevailed that their harbor would be open by the 1st of May: but others doubted whether the ice-embargo would be fully raised before the 10th or 15th. Erie harbor is still blocked up. Four steamboats, the Ocean, Baltic, Morton, and Queen City, all full of passengers, are still ice-bound there, with no immediate prospect of relief.

This side of Erie there is less ice along the South shore, or in the Lake, but it was not until our informant reached Ashtabula, 44 miles west of Erie, that he succeeded in exchanging a stage coach for a steamboat. About 25 miles East of Erie and four or five miles out in the Lake he saw, on Friday last, the unlucky Ohio, in the midst of vast fields of ice, unable to move herself and beyond the reach of help from other boats. Her passengers have mostly "taken their hats and walked ashore." The officers and crew remain on board, comforted by the dim and distant hope that by the Fourth of July, at least, they will once more become "free and independent."

The Ohio Stage Company, the Erie Landlords' and other public servants have thriven prodigiously during this ice-spell. The charges they make, our informant says, are a caution to all travellers of moderate means. On the other hand he expressed himself highly delighted with the Southern Michigan Rail Road, as well as the State line road from Erie to Buffalo. This last is now doing an enormous business, carrying frequently 500 passengers a day.

Mademoiselle Jacques' Concert.

The Concert given by Mademoiselle JACQUES and her party at Gardiner's Hall, on Monday evening last, had the rare merit of equalling, if it did not surpass, the high expectations raised by the flattering notices of these Artists in the Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago papers. Altho' the weather was threatening, the night dark, and the walking of the worst, the Hall was well filled by a discriminating audience, whose approving judgement was quite enthusiastically expressed. Each of the Artists composing the Troupe, possesses very decided merit and made a most favorable impression. HERR BRANDEIS, tho' still youthful, is a very clever Artist, accompanying with taste and precision, and playing his pieces with great spirit and expression. His execution of Wallace's "Polka de Concert" was warmly applauded and encored. Mr. SQUIRES is an admirable vocalist; altogether the best Tenor ever heard in our City. He possesses a rich, flexible and powerful voice, and has studied diligently for the past four years. His improvement in that period has been remarkable and he now ranks in the first class of American Singers. All of his pieces on Monday evening called forth the plaudits of his audience, and his "John Anderson," and "the Flag of our Union" were enthusiastically encored. No Artist who has visited Milwaukee during our seven years' residence here, made a more decided hit than Mr. SQUIRES did on Monday evening. He is already an established favorite with our musical public.

Mademoiselle ROSA JACQUES was not less successful. Her voice is one of great power and compass; the upper notes clear and the lower and middle ones uncommonly rich and perfectly well-rounded. She sings difficult passages with little apparent effort, and gives full effect to the sentiment as well as to the music. Her appearance and manner are very prepossessing, and you are prepared to like her, even before her lips have parted. Nor is this first impression disappointed by her performance. She sings as sweetly as she looks.

The Concert, as a whole, was decidedly the best we have attended in our city for many months.—Indeed we should be at a loss to fix upon any one we have heard here which we thought superior.—The same Artists will make their appearance for the second and last time to-night. Their Programme is rich in gems. Mademoiselle JACQUES will sing Hendal's noble air, "I know that my Redeemer liveth," in which she is said to approach closely to Jenny Lind, (that was, alas!) to equal Kate Hayes, and to surpass all other rivals. Mr. SQUIRES will repeat "the Flag of our Union," and will give, with other favorite pieces, the exquisite serenade from "Don Pasquale," which sung of a summer night, as he can sing it, to the accompaniment of a guitar and by the light of the crescent Moon, might woo the sleepiest beauty from the softest couch and deepest slumber. We anticipate a crowded and brilliant house, to-night.

VETO OF THE IMPROVEMENT BILL.—We publish this morning Gov. FAIRWELL'S Veto of the Fox River Improvement Bill. The reasons for the Executive action will be found set forth at length and with force and clearness in this document; nor do we see how the positions thus taken can be successfully gainsayed. The Commercial, indeed, blows its loudest blast against the veto, but it is tout et preterea nihil. It does not stop to answer, or even to notice the Governor's reasons, but makes war upon the act itself. No doubt, in its hot haste to assail the Executive and try to turn the veto to party account, it overlooks the fact that both the Democratic Senators from this County voted to sustain it! Does it propose to crucify them also? Or does "Democracy" excuse in them the sin which the Commercial finds so patent and condemns so unsparingly in the Executive?

Our readers will find the advertisement of Messrs. Decker & Saville in another column of this paper.

"Encourage Home Manufactures!"

☞ If the Sentinel would put in practice an article to which it is a stranger, but which old saws assure us "is the best policy," it would be oftener successful and feel better when it is not. The advice is gratuitous.—Commercial Advertiser.

No doubt of it, and like most "advice" of the same sort, is worth as little as it costs. The Commercial, it appears, does not even know by name, the "article," which it advises us to "practice."

So great is the demand for material, that Illinois Brick makers are unable to supply it, and cargoes of Milwaukee brick for fronts, have met with a ready sale.—Chicago Journal, 12th inst.

No doubt the superior color and quality of our Milwaukee brick have something to do with this "ready sale."

☞ The Wisconsin now pleads ignorance in excuse for the display of its monkey-malice towards the two gentlemen to whom it falsely ascribed the authorship of "Brother Jonathan's" Billingsgate. This only aggravates its offence, especially since it claims to be a "near friend" to one at least of the gentlemen whom it thus sought to stigmatize.

A QUESTION OF TASTE.—The Commercial insists that the scurrilous philippic of "Brother Jonathan," against the Governor and his Private Secretary, was "manly, straight-forward and decent in style and language." This is a matter of taste about which people will differ, tho' all will agree that "Brother Jonathan's" article was quite fit for the Commercial's columns.

RIGHT FOR ONCE.—The Wisconsin of last evening, gravely announces, as a new fact, that the Sentinel is "read out of the Whig party" Of course it is; very extensively "read," both in and out of the Whig party. We wish we could say as much for the Wisconsin.

NOTHING LIKE PERSEVERANCE.—The Wisconsin daily certifies itself to be "an independent journal" and its editor a man who "adheres to his word in every relation of life." No doubt it expects, by sticking to this story, to make people believe it.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Madison, April 9th, 1852.

To the Senate:

The bill entitled "an act to provide for the completion of the improvement of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers," I herewith return to the Senate, where the same originated, with the following objections to the same becoming a law:

1. The bill prescribes a general policy for the prosecution of the improvement and the management of the fund, in my opinion objectionable, in the following particulars:

1. The prosecution of the works upon credit, and in advance of the means derivable from the sales of the granted lands;

2. The adoption of a plan and system of improvement, and the prosecution of the works without regard to the amount of the fund;

3. The pledging of the revenues of the improvement for the ultimate payment of the indebtedness created by the improvement;

4. The creation of a debt of a large amount against the fund, without any certainty that the fund will be sufficient to pay it and the investing that debt with such forms of "stock certificates," under the seal of the state, as to give it a fictitious state credit unauthorized by, and in direct violation of the constitution.

Section 2 of the act of Congress approved August 8, 1846, granting "a certain quantity of land to aid in the improvement of the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, and to connect the same by a canal," provides as follows: "That as soon as the territory of Wisconsin shall be admitted into the Union, all the lands granted by this act shall be and become the property of the said state for the purpose contemplated in this act and no other: Provided. That the legislature of said state shall agree to accept said grant upon the terms specified in this act, and shall have power to fix the price at which said lands shall be sold, not less than one dollar and twenty-five cents the acre; and to adopt such kind and plan of improvement on said route, as the said legislature shall from time to time determine for the best interest of said state: Provided also, That the lands hereby granted shall not be conveyed or disposed of by said state, except as said improvement shall progress; that is, the said state may sell so much of said lands as shall produce the sum of twenty thousand dollars, and then the sales shall cease until the governor of said state shall certify the fact to the President of the United States that one half of said sum has been expended upon said improvements, when the said state may sell and dispose of a quantity of said lands sufficient to reimburse the amount expended; and thus the sales shall progress as the proceeds thereof shall be expended, and the fact of such expenditure certified in the manner herein mentioned."

The proper construction of this section of the act of Congress, is of the utmost importance in determining the rights and authority of this state in the disposition of the grant.

I understand it to mean a grant of a certain quantity of land by Congress, to the state of Wisconsin in trust, accompanied by provisos, conditions and directions for its application to the object intended, and that this state is not at liberty to violate or disregard them, any more than any other trustee would be at liberty to violate or disregard the special directions, contained in the instrument creating the trust, for the disposition of the trust estate.

That the conditions and directions of this act, prohibit the disposition of the lands in advance of the works, any further than for the sum of twenty thousand dolls., is not questioned. But on the other hand that they also prohibit the prosecution of the works in advance of the fund available from the sales of the land, is by some denied, and the policy embraced in this bill is based upon the hypothesis that no such prohibition is contained in the act.

In the case of the U. S. vs Freeman, decided in the Supreme Court of the United States, at the January term 1845, the following is laid down as established rule for the construction of Statutes.

"That the meaning of the legislature may not be extended beyond the precise words used in the law, from the reason or motive upon which the legislature proceeded, from the end in view, or the purpose which was designed."

Under this rule what was the "reason" upon which the national legislature proceeded; what "end" did they have in view, and what "purpose" was designed by the conditions and directions contained in this grant? All seem to agree that that "reason," "end" and "purpose" were to prevent a waste and extravagant expenditure of the fund. For this "reason, end and purpose," Congress prohibits the sales of the lands in advance of the work; and for the same reason, in my opinion, Congress also prohibits in this section, the prosecution of the work in advance of the fund and upon credit. If this latter construction is not admitted to be correct, then this obvious "reason, end and purpose" of any condition whatever in this law, are entirely defeated.

What can be the difference, whether the lands are all sold and converted into money before the work is commenced, and then wasted, and extravagantly expended in its prosecution; or the work is prosecuted and completed, wastefully and extravagantly, upon the credit of the fund not yet received, but pledged and set apart, to the payment of this indebtedness, thus wastefully and recklessly contracted when it shall afterwards be received from sales of the granted lands? To illustrate this view of the question, I will suppose that, par into the hands of the state in section of land, for the sole purpose of defraying the expenses of his education and no other, with the condition however, that the son shall not dispose of this land, except in parcels from time to time, as it may be actually required for this purpose.

The son dares not sell the land, and convert it into money as he might do, when needed; but chooses rather to run in debt, recklessly, partly for his education, but mostly for other purposes, and mortgage the land to secure the payment of the extravagant debts. By this course, the condition made by the parent, that the land shall not be sold sooner than actually required for the education of his son, may not literally be broken, but the whole "purpose, reason and end" of the condition are evaded and violated, and this paternal gift is just as effectually squandered and lost as if he had been permitted to sell his land and convert it into ready money, at the start, and had afterwards squandered and lost it.

This similitude, however, rests upon the assumption that the son had the right to mortgage, or pledge the land for his debt.

To apply this illustration to the grant of the general government to this state, for the purpose of this improvement and no other, it is only necessary to consider, that the bill under consideration, contemplates that the state has the right to pledge the fund in advance of sales of land for the payment of all debts contracted for the prosecution of the work. Will the work cost any less, and is there less chance to waste, misapply, or squander this fund, by prosecuting the work upon credit and in advance of sales, and pledging the fund irrevocably for payment of the indebtedness thereby contracted, when the lands shall afterwards be converted into money, than by first selling all the lands, and doing the work upon ready cash?

Indeed, every reason would dictate that the danger of misapplication and waste, would be far less, if the lands should all be sold and converted into money before the work should commence, and then the work should be prosecuted safely upon the principle of ready cash payments, than if the work be prosecuted as it has been to some extent, and as this bill contemplates, it shall be in future, upon credit, and in anticipation of available means. An act has already been passed at the present session of the legislature, providing for the payment of 12 per cent. interest, upon this very indebtedness, showing that at least this much might have been saved to the fund, had there been ready cash on hand to pay for the work already done. And the experience of every business man teaches that more labor can be obtained for ready money than upon credit.

The Governor of this State is required by this act of Congress, after the first sale of land, in order to authorize a second sale, "to certify the fact to the President of the United States that one half of said sum (the sum of twenty thousand dollars, the proceeds of the first sale) has been expended upon said improvements."

"One half of said sum" most clearly means one-half of the twenty thousand dollars received as the proceeds of the first sale, and cannot refer to any other sum created by any other means than here specified, clearly implying, in my opinion, that the work is to be done by cash in hand, and not credit.

His certificate to the President of the fact that ten thousand dollars worth of work has been done on credit, would not, in the meaning of this law, be such a certificate as to authorize a sale of these lands.

If this is the proper construction of this law of Congress making the grant, and I cannot see how any other construction could reasonably obtain, the policy contemplated by this bill, of prosecuting this work upon credit, in advance of the available means in money, and of issuing warrants and stock certificates as evidence of the indebtedness and pledging the fund in anticipation for their redemption, is in direct violation of the terms of the grant.

It is contended by some, that the State having accepted of this grant, has become obligated, not only to appropriate this land to the purposes of this improvement, but also to complete the improvement, whether this fund should be sufficient for that purpose or not. To this position I can by no means assent. The tenth section of article eight of our State Constitution provides that "the State shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the State may carry on such particular works, and devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

Does this section of the constitution mean that when there has been a grant of land made to the State, however small and inadequate, for a particular work of importance, the State may, after expending the grant, go on and complete the work, be a party to contracts for that purpose, and become involved in a public debt to the extent necessary to such completion? If so, the whole object of providing, in this instrument, against the possibility of a public debt would be defeated, and the State might at any time, by obtaining and expending, however small, "a grant of land or other property" on some improvement that would ultimately require millions of money to complete it, go on, and contract a public debt of an alarming magnitude.

For instance, if the Fox and Wisconsin river Improvement would require to complete it, as is by some estimated, two millions of dollars; by this construction of the constitution, the State may, for this single improvement, contract a debt to at least a million and a half of dollars.

I am fully convinced that this section of the constitution only authorizes the State to expend the grant made for an improvement, and to apply the revenues of such work to aid in its completion, when revenues under the constitution may properly accrue, and there the authority to carry on works of internal improvement, or be a party to contracts for such purpose, ceases.

With this view of the constitution, the prosecution and completion of the Fox and Wisconsin river improvement upon credit, and in advance of the sales and disposition of the granted lands, are utterly inconsistent; for it is impossible to determine, in advance of the sales, how much money may be obtained by the disposition of the grant: it may be less, or it may be more than would be required to complete the work.

If the work is prosecuted upon credit, in advance of the sales, it may be found, in the end, that the fund is insufficient to pay the indebtedness, and would remain a debt created and permitted by the laws and authorities of the State, which the State must ultimately pay, or repudiate.

Against such a contingency, it was to be hoped we were sufficiently guarded, as a State, by a constitution utterly prohibiting the creation of any "public debt."

The act of the legislature, approved August 8, 1846, providing for the construction of this improvement and the expenditure of the fund, in effect confirms the foregoing construction of the act of Congress making the grant, and of our own constitution, for it contemplates throughout, the prosecution of the improvement upon cash in hand.

It requires "the Governor to transmit monthly to the President of the United States, a statement of the amount expended in the prosecution of said improvements during the preceding month." "That all payments to said treasurer (of the board) shall be made in gold and silver coin, and all payments to contractors shall be in like currency."—And it no where contemplates that any work shall be done upon credit, or that any Warrants shall be issued when there is no money in the treasury to pay them.

It further provid s that "the aggregate amount of contracts at any time let by the board, shall not exceed the available means derivable from the sale of the lands granted in aid of said improvement."

This being the first act of the legislature upon the subject, after the acceptance of the grant, and the adoption of the constitution, may be regarded as good authority upon the meaning and construction of both.

The stock certificates required to be issued by this bill, by the secretary of the state and under the great seal of the state, pledge "the revenues of said improvement, and in advance of its completion:—Section 1st of Article 9, of the constitution of this state, provides that "the river Mississippi and the navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall forever remain public highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the state as to the citizens of the U. S., without any tax, impost, or duty therefor."

If this constitutional provision does not apply to the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, and the "carrying places between the same," I cannot conceive to what navigable waters in the state of Wisconsin it has application. If the city of Milwaukee should expend money for the improvement of the mouth of the Milwaukee river, I see no reason why the legislature may not authorize said city to levy taxes tolls and duties upon all tonnage entering said river, and derive important revenues therefrom, with the same propriety that the revenues of this improvement may be pledged for the redemption of these stock certificates.

1. I am of the opinion, therefore, that this bill in this respect conflicts with this article of the constitution.

2. The provisions of this bill impairs the obligation of existing contracts heretofore made for works upon the improvement, by extending the time and terms of payment.

The contractors by their terms are to be paid in cash upon monthly estimates.

This bill proposes to pay such contractors in stock certificates, after they shall be prepared by the Secretary of State.

3. The last section of this bill embraces and re-enacts in effect and nearly the same language, the conditions and terms, of the act of Congress, making the grant, while at the same time under the construction I have already given said act, it conflicts with nearly all the other provisions of the bill.

4. The 31st section of this bill provides that the treasurer of the state land office, shall, on the 1st day of January, in each year, and quarterly thereafter, pay into the treasury a percentage on his own section of land, for the sole purpose of defraying the expenses of his education and no other, with the condition however, that the son shall not dispose of this land, except in parcels from time to time, as it may be actually required for this purpose.

The son dares not sell the land, and convert it into money as he might do, when needed; but chooses rather to run in debt, recklessly, partly for his education, but mostly for other purposes, and mortgage the land to secure the payment of the extravagant debts. By this course, the condition made by the parent, that the land shall not be sold sooner than actually required for the education of his son, may not literally be broken, but the whole "purpose, reason and end" of the condition are evaded and violated, and this paternal gift is just as effectually squandered and lost as if he had been permitted to sell his land and convert it into ready money, at the start, and had afterwards squandered and lost it.

This similitude, however, rests upon the assumption that the son had the right to mortgage, or pledge the land for his debt.

To apply this illustration to the grant of the general government to this state, for the purpose of this improvement and no other, it is only necessary to consider, that the bill under consideration, contemplates that the state has the right to pledge the fund in advance of sales of land for the payment of all debts contracted for the prosecution of the work. Will the work cost any less, and is there less chance to waste, misapply, or squander this fund, by prosecuting the work upon credit and in advance of sales, and pledging the fund irrevocably for payment of the indebtedness thereby contracted, when the lands shall afterwards be converted into money, than by first selling all the lands, and doing the work upon ready cash?

Indeed, every reason would dictate that the danger of misapplication and waste, would be far less, if the lands should all be sold and converted into money before the work should commence, and then the work should be prosecuted safely upon the principle of ready cash payments, than if the work be prosecuted as it has been to some extent, and as this bill contemplates, it shall be in future, upon credit, and in anticipation of available means. An act has already been passed at the present session of the legislature, providing for the payment of 12 per cent. interest, upon this very indebtedness, showing that at least this much might have been saved to the fund, had there been ready cash on hand to pay for the work already done. And the experience of every business man teaches that more labor can be obtained for ready money than upon credit.

The Governor of this State is required by this act of Congress, after the first sale of land, in order to authorize a second sale, "to certify the fact to the President of the United States that one half of said sum (the sum of twenty thousand dollars, the proceeds of the first sale) has been expended upon said improvements."

"One half of said sum" most clearly means one-half of the twenty thousand dollars received as the proceeds of the first sale, and cannot refer to any other sum created by any other means than here specified, clearly implying, in my opinion, that the work is to be done by cash in hand, and not credit.

His certificate to the President of the fact that ten thousand dollars worth of work has been done on credit, would not, in the meaning of this law, be such a certificate as to authorize a sale of these lands.

If this is the proper construction of this law of Congress making the grant, and I cannot see how any other construction could reasonably obtain, the policy contemplated by this bill, of prosecuting this work upon credit, in advance of the available means in money, and of issuing warrants and stock certificates as evidence of the indebtedness and pledging the fund in anticipation for their redemption, is in direct violation of the terms of the grant.

It is contended by some, that the State having accepted of this grant, has become obligated, not only to appropriate this land to the purposes of this improvement, but also to complete the improvement, whether this fund should be sufficient for that purpose or not. To this position I can by no means assent. The tenth section of article eight of our State Constitution provides that "the State shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the State, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the State may carry on such particular works, and devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion."

Does this section of the constitution mean that when there has been a grant of land made to the State, however small and inadequate, for a particular work of importance, the State may, after expending the grant, go on and complete the

☞ We stated last week, upon what we supposed to be good authority, that the Public works at Kaukauna has been discontinued. Since then, we have learned that our statements were not correct, and that the contractors at that point are pushing the work forward as rapidly as possible.—Green Bay Advocate.

Letter of Lola Monez.

The following is the graphic pronunciamento of LOLA MONTEZ to the Boston people, which has been heralded by Telegraph:

TREMONT HOUSE, March 29, '52.

To the Editor of the Boston Transcript:

SIR—In your edition of Sunday you saw fit to take exception to a visit paid by me to several of our public schools, in company with two of your respectable fellow-citizens. This exception was based on reports spread to my detriment by my Jesuitic enemies, and as to the truth or falsehood of which, you assert that you know nothing. Now permit me to ask you where is the most harm, in a visit by a stranger to the most wonderful and interesting of all your institutions, or in the base, false, dishonest, ungentlemanly, uncharitable construction you have put upon it? Do you think, sir, that one of those children would have had an impure, or improper thought connected with my visit if it had not been put into their heads by yourself? Believe me, sir, there is often more impurity in the mind of the critic than in the object of his criticism. There are men who would stand before the Venus of Medici and the Apollo of Belvidere, and see nothing in them but their nudity. There are men living like Paul the 4th who would object to the painting of the Last Judgment, and throw a bronze drapery over the statue of Prudence, and like Michael Angelo to the Pope, I might reply to you, sir, "Reform the world, and these aspersions will reform themselves."

You think it, improper, sir, for a danseuse to visit one of your public institutions! Did your fellow citizens think it improper to accept the cap-stone of the Bunker Hill Monument from Fanny Ellsler? Do you think it improper for your public institutions to daily receive willing contributions from the hard-earned salary of artists? If you do, you might make it the subject of your next poem, for I am informed that you are, or have been a poet, though I never should have suspected it from so illiberal, ungentlemanly, and immoral constructions. If you do not, pray do not open your mouth again on the subject of the visit of an artist to a public institution.

With regard to my talent, it would be unbecoming in me to speak—or quote—but to say that I have ever posted myself in this country in any other quality than that of an artise, is false in the throat of whoever may say it.

I had the offer made to me when in Europe of entering America triumphantly. Triumphant arches were offered to be erected for me on the pier, garlands to be hung across my way, flowers spread over my track, and my carriage drawn to my hotel by human hands, amidst showers of boquets and vivas. All this I declined. If there is any thing that I thoroughly detest, it is humbug. I even declined, on arriving, the free use of the telegraph which was courteously tendered me by the gentlemanly proprietors, and in no case have I made interest to buy the good opinion of journals.

It had cost me a fortune to be stage struck during tears, but I was determined if I succeeded at all it should be legitimately in the pursuit of my profession as an artiste, though I was as well satisfied as the man who made me the offer, that in refusing it I was sacrificing a great many dollars to my principle. I had too much amour propre, sir, to be shown up like a woolly horse or a white negro, but it is a satisfaction to know that if it is I who have suffered by it, it is the public which has gained, and that instead of paying from $3 up to a fabulous price for tickets, all who desired it, have had the satisfaction of seeing me for a much smaller sum.

I was counselled by several of my friends in New York to purchase the esteem of those whose minds had been influenced by the Jesuitical stories in circulation with regard to me, by giving the receipts of my first night to public charities. The idea was repugnant to me, and I refused doing so till the eve of the close of my engagements, when I have invariably given them a benefit, when I could obtain the permission of the directors of the theatre.

I speak of Jesuitical lies. I mentioned to a few friends in Paris my intention of coming to America on an artistic tour. Immediately all the journals from Canada to Mexico are flooded with communications heaping upon me all the epithets in the vocabulary of blackguards. It was also said that I tamed wild horses, horse-whipped gendarmes, knocked flies with a pistol ball off the bald heads of aldermen, fought duels, threw people overboard for the sake of keeping them from drowning, and a multitude of other similar feats. Now, sir, do you see the sly, Jesuitical, infamous design of all this? It was simply to unsex me. To deprive me of that high, noble, chivalrous protection, which is so universally accorded to women in this country by generous men.

Very well, sir, did they succeed? I have been now four months in this country and my success, instead of diminishing, has increased from the first moment up to the present time. Americans are no fools, sir and believe me, though they may be imposed upon at first, they soon come again to their senses.

I finally arrived here in your tri-mountain city, pleasantly associated as it is for me with my own adopted name, and which I had more curiosity to see than I ever had for the far-famed city of the seven. The latter was the heathen mystic number, but the former was that of the christian trinity, and was connected in my mind with those noble, self-sacrificing, devoted men, who were ever the objects of my admiration. I had twice been placed under the protection of its citizens—once by my parents in India on a voyage to England and once on my pilgrimage to this country, and in neither case had I cause to regret the choice that had been made for me.

I say my pilgrimage to America, for it was indeed a pilgrimage. Not such as was made by those gallant, noble men who steered their bark to Plymouth rock—but more like that a lover would make to the mistress of his heart; a disciple of Mahomed to his long dreamed of Mecca, a Catholic devotee to the adored and worshipped shrine of the Saints. A lover at the feet of his adored mistress, a Mahommedan before the self-suspended coffin of the prophet—a travel worn baldachino of St. Peter at Rome, so have I bowed, silent, content and happy before the only successful realization of a principle to which I have devoted my life. And now, when I as a stranger, wish to pay a visit to those nurseries of your noble statesmen—your Websters, your Calhouns, your Clays—you cry out against me as an intruder! Tie on you, sir! for an ill bred, senseless cur, unworthy to stand at the portal of public opinion.

I had been told that you were a good little fellow and published a good little paper, though you did fail as a play writer. Stick to your new trade, sir, if it suits you, and praise your Vespucci and other favorites as much as you please—but do not interfere with me in my innocent amusements, and abuse me for visiting, with respectable gentlemen, accompanied by one of their wives, a public institution in which they had placed, for education, their own children.

Above all, if you would have the character of an honest man, never give circulation to aspersions of the character of a lady of which you know nothing, which are false in themselves, and which, for my own part, I DEFY ANY MAN LIVING TO PROVE.

J'ai l'honneur de vous saluer.

M. DE LANDSFELD HEALD. LOLA MONTEZ.

Boston, 29th March, 1852.

A JUST VETO.—Our legislature in their consummate wisdom recently made another attack upon the business integrity of our state, by the passage of a law, whereby the sale of lands under foreclosure in chancery, should be entitled to three years redemption, thereby destroying the reliability of such securities, and carrying on a war, which if persisted in must drive all monied capital from the state. We are among those who are opposed to giving capital, by charter, special privileges over other classes, but we will not uphold this warfare upon the legitimate rights of those who may have wealth to dispose of in the way of loans &c. It has been the cry for years, in this state, that we needed capital to develope the natural resources of our soil, and to put to active use the huge amount of water-power scattered through our state. If this eternal war upon credit is persisted in, by attempting to obstruct the natural laws which govern trade throughout the world, we may look, as a consequence, for a diversion of capital from our borders, into more stable and reliable channels.

Promptness of payment, when due, is the foundation of all commercial prosperity, and any statute law passed, to annul this principle, cannot but prove more disstrous to the debtor than the creditor, and prove ruinous to the state where such an enactment exists. The natural laws of trade are irresistible, and all statute laws passed, throwing impediments in their way, must end in destruction to the prosperity of the county. It is for these reasons that we look upon the vote of this bill by the Governor as just and correct.—Watertown Register.

SPRING ELECTION.—The election of last Tuesday resulted in the success of the Whig ticket, by majorities ranging from 40 to 123, showing conclusively that it was conducted more with reference to men, than for party feeling. We have no objection however, to its being called an old fashioned Whig triumph, for those chosen to fill the officers were Whigs—though some of them of the moderate stamp. The Democratic Ticket was defeated pretty and the Whig majority greatly augmented, through the laxness of Democrats, many of whom were absent from the polls. The whole number of votes polled last year were 271; this Spring the whole number was 279—showing an increase of but 8 votes, over last year.—Berlin Mercury.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—The following ticket has been put in nomination by the Democratic of Missouri:

For Governor, Sterling Price, (Anti-Benton.)
Lieut. Gov., W. Brown,
Secy'ry State, J. M. Richardson, (Benton.)
Auditor, W. H. Buffington,
Register of Lands, A. P. Richardson,"
Treasurer, A. W. Morrison, (Anti-Benton.)
Attorney, J. G. Gardenhire, (Benton.)

City Matters.

A PAIR OF HORSES STOLEN.—A span of horses were taken from the barn of Joseph Carey, on Jefferson street, near the Court House, last night. It appears that the horses had been attached and left to be sold to-day or to-morrow, to satisfy a debt that Mr. Carey held against David Lemonier, the man who recently eloped with a young girl of this city. The property was also claimed by the father-in-law of Mr. Lemonier, from whose possession the horses were legally taken. This is what we call bidding off property in advance of its sale. —Free Democrat.

SHE WOULD AND SHE WOULDN'T.—A woman intent on suicide, in consequence of some hard words from her worser half, jumped from one of the piers into the Lake, on Sunday afternoon. She was drawn out, much against her will, by some bystanders, and after being safely landed, broke away from her rescuers and again plunged into the Lake. This time they concluded to let her "try it on" awhile, and so, stood aloof. Whereupon, like a true daughter of Eve, being unopposed, she abandoned her purpose of self-destruction and came ashore of her own accord.

WHERE ARE THE MAILS?—The Arctic arrived in good season, yesterday afternoon, and we looked for a grist of Eastern exchanges; but tho' we received New York letters of the 5th, 6th and 7th instants, we did not get a single newspaper from beyond Chicago! This makes 4 days in succession that the Eastern Mail has failed. What possible excuse can be given for these frequent and annoying failures?

WATER-CURE ESTABLISHMENT,
BRATTLEBORO', VERMONT.

THE Proprietor, DR. R. WISSELHOEFT, begs leave to inform the public, that he has recovered from his severe sickness, and is able again to attend to his professional duties. Former and new patients, therefore, may depend upon his giving due attention to their cases. They will also find comfortable and pleasant accommodations both for themselves and friends, but will please to remember that the establishment is intended for the cure of diseases by means of water, and not for a boast at a fashionable watering place. Yet, to the lovers of nature and a quiet summer residence, the house has many attractions besides its Water-cure, for Nature has indeed been lavish of her gifts on the town, and the walks and drives in the vicinity.

G. GRÆSSLE'S

PRESSED, FIRE-PROOF TILING.

CERTIFICATES OF RECOMMENDATION.

BY the present, I attest my entire satisfaction with the roof of my house, covered with the pressed, fire-proof Tile, invented by Mr. Græssle; having found them perfectly secure during snow-storms, rains, wind and intense cold. I hereby take occasion to recommend said roof covering to every house-builder, inviting them to satisfy themselves by ocular inspection of the excellent quality of the same. ENNO MEYER,
Druggist, 374 W. Water-st., 2nd ward.

Milwaukee, Feb 3, 1850.

The above I found true in every respect, as to the roof of my house, covered with the same tile, invented by Mr. Græssle. AUGUST KRUG,
Brewer, Chestnut-st., 2nd ward.

The undersigned, having carefully examined the pressed roofing Tiles, invented by Mr. Græssle, have found them perfectly answering the purpose intended. Their practical and scientious construction recommend this kind of Tile, not only as a fire-proof and perfectly water-proof covering, but above all for its durability. The ridges and channels not only exclude the entering of snow or rain-water, but, by their firm and precise joining of one into the other, they give to the shingle Tile as well as to the whole covering an absolutely movable position and an intimate connection. Besides this, Mr. Græssle's method of burning the Tiles, deprives them of the injurious tendency to absorb water, making them in this way durable; and joining to the above another virtue, viz. that of dispensing with repairs. The undersigned therefore consider themselves fully justified in recommending to the building community the above roofing Tile as an excellent and valuable material.

OTTO SCHWARTZ, } Architects
VICTOR SCHULTE, } & Builders.

Milwaukee, Feb. 5, 1852.

To G. Græssle —I have examined the Roofing Tile made by you, and have no hesitation in recommending them to general use, and particularly as a fire-proof roof.
G. W. MYGATT, Architect.

THE subscribers, thankful for past favors, beg leave to announce that they have recently added the Foundry business to their former occupation of Mill Stone manufacturing, and are now prepared to supply the public with articles in either branch, on terms that will defy competition.

In offering our Stoves to the community, we do so with the full assurance that we can supply better articles than can be purchased at any other place, being entirely new patterns, manufactured with care and from the very best materials. The following list of patterns is offered with the confidence that they will give satisfaction in every particular, viz:

THE ECONOMIST

DOUBLE OVEN COOKING STOVE,

Possesses great advantages over every other stove, for plain fitness of direct application of heat, being so arranged that one or both ovens can be used at pleasure. It will cook in half the time of any other stove now in use, and with half the fuel, not consuming over four cords of wood in one year.

The PREMIUM is different in its construction from any other made, in the arrangement of the line back—believed to be a great improvement.

The JUNO PARLOR is adapted to either wood or coal, being decidedly the neatest arrangement ever offered to the public, having all the convenience of the stove combined with the warmth of the open grate. It is beautifully ornamented, highly finished, and perfect in every respect—the entire front above and below the grate being open and covered with three doors, and so arranged that when open they are completely out of sight. It is equally adapted to coal as well as parlors.

The RADIATOR is the best coal stove ever got up as a radiator of heat.

Persons purchasing their stoves of us, in the event of any of the plate getting broke, can at all times be supplied with extra ones, thus superseding the necessity of throwing away stoves, which many are daily compelled to do in buying Eastern ware.

Those who are in want of an articles in our line, will find it to their advantage to give us a call, before purchasing elsewhere, as we are confident that we can give satisfaction in all cases. Cy references given, where our stoves can be seen in operation. Stoves delivered free of charge to any part of the city, free of charge. All orders promptly attended to.
